Manos had just left the hotel when a man approached him from the rear and shot him through the head, killing him instantly. Police were endeavoring to trace a connection between this slaying and the Murphy killing.

Big Tim Murphy, Chicago's pioneer labor racketeer, ex-state representative and ex-mail robber, was killed by the pistol fire of gangsters at 11:10 o'clock last night on the lawn in front of his home at 2525 Morse avenue, Rogers Park. His full name was Timothy D. Murphy.

Thirty bullets were fired at Murphy and his brother-in-law, Harry Diggs, from the windows of a passing automobile in which rode four men. Murphy was struck twice. One bullet passed through his lungs from the left to his right forearm. He fell on the The drys have divided into two grass and died at once. Diggs fell

Chief Grady ordered that Jack Zuta, a member of the Skidmore-Zuta-Bertsche syndicate that controls a string of disorderly places, be taken into custody for questioning. He commanded that Mike de Pike Heitler, who has a long record in the same connection, be arrested.

Murphy and Heitler, according to Chief Grady, had been much together recently, and it was assumed that they might have laid plans to overthrow Zuta. Heitler was to be asked about a report that they had taken over leases on eleven hotels with the intention of competing with the powers already established.

Cleaners-Dyers Theory.

There was another theory that Murphy had tried to "muscle in" on the lucrative cleaners and dyers' union. He and Abe Schaffner, it was asserted by the police, had striven to wrest this anion from Sam Ruben and Al

When Mrs. Murphy arrived, her husband was dead. The Diggs brothers and the 14 year old boy had carried his body from the lawn into the house. The widow, who managed the tangled affairs of Tim's gas workers' union while he was a prisoner of the United States at Leavenworth, was dry eyed, but she expressed her feelings forcibly.

"I don't know who did this," she said. "But there was no reason to kill him. He was kind and generous to everybody. If I find out who did it I'll handle him myself."

Murphy had been spending a quiet evening at the radio in the basement of his home with Harry Diggs and the latter's brother. William. They had listened to the speeches at the Democratic convention at Houston. At about 11 p. m. there was a ring at the front door. A 14 year old cousin of Murphy, Earl Glynn, called to tell him of it. Big Tim and Harry Diggs went out to investigate.

There was no one in the yard. As they stood, waiting, the death car slowly approached. Murphy had been spending a quiet evening at the radio in the basement of his home with Harry Diggs and the latter's brother, Wilstiam. They had listened to the speeches at the Democratic convention at Houston. At about 11 p. m. there was a ring at the front door. A 14 year old cousin of Murphy, Earl Glynn, called to tell him of it. Big Tim and Harry Diggs went out to investigate.

There was no one in the yard. As they stood, waiting, the death car slowly approached. Apparently one of the four men in it had sounded the bell and gone back to the machine, which had then been driven around the block and back again in front.

—The heat came down on Houston like a burning roof today and life became a mitigated pleasure. In the lobby of the Rice hotel there was more than a mere hint of the hell fire that the preachers tell of and if I were a preacher I should feel a sense of futility in all my future attempts to intimidate those who survived the half mile walk to and from the convention hall where the Democratic party formally and officially snapped its suspenders at noon.

The opening session was short and formal and in 30 minutes the delegates and appendix were dragging themselves back to hotel lobbles. Why do delegates to conventions stand around hotel lobbles, limp, gasping, dripping, wedged in squashy masses like fish worms in a can, when they might go to their rooms to lie in the bathtubs and read, awaiting the cool of the evening?

and descending files chafed and jostled as they struggled past each other. At the top and bottom of the meszanine staires were farms of suffers in Democrats. It took 20 minutes to make this flight. Those going up were merely got by for the trip. When they got there, they looked around, wiped there, they looked around, wiped god wown again. It seemed hardly worth the effort to see the meszanine. The air was so hot if the burned, and an occasional blast of a moonshine breath induced shudders at the thought of drinking on such a day.

What a majestic figure was he who led us in those fruitful years! The cold, even light of his superb intellect played upon the most intricate problems of the times and they seemed to solve themselves. He lifted the people to such heights of moral grandeup as they had never known before; and his name and purpose made hearts beat faster in lowly places where his praise was sung in every language in the world. And when at length, his body broken, but his spirit noaring still, he fell stricken, while still battling for his faith, there passed to time and to eternity and to all mankind the everlasting keeping of the immortal memory of Woodrow Wilson.

Patent Lawyer 1500 BURNHAM BLDG. 160 North La Salle St., Chic Character!

The man who is not too much concerned about the regard of others and who goes about the business of this life in accordance with the dictates of his own sincere convictions is said to possess character.

I Such a man, if he be well balanced, acquires, without seeking, the respect, confidence and often the affection of those around him.

¶ So, too, with a business concern; the institution that is not a servile follower of the customs of its trade but upon the contrary dares to do the right thing in the way that seems best, is said to be an enterprise of character.

In the old days, Henrici's did many things that other restaurants did not do and refrained from many customs that were thought by some to be almost inseparable from the restaurant business.

And Henrici's came to be known as an institution of character, and it gained the respect and confidence of all and the deep regard of many.

I Nor have the lengthening years changed the spirit or character of Henrici's in the slightest degree. Large as this business has become, it is as virile and progressive as ever, and, with the undeviating support of its patrons, is developing without pause.

Why not Henrici's today for luncheon?

It is evident that this bandwagon rivalry is going to be an extremaly reliable episode of the balloting.

The remnant of McAdoo drys, led by Dan Roper and George Fort Milton, has thrown up the sponge. BELA KUN IS FOUND GUILTY AND SENT TO JAIL BY AUSTRIA

VIENNA, June 26. — Bela Kun, wanted in Hungary for the murder of hundreds during the communist revolution of 1919, and whose extradition was prevented by the intervention of the minister of justice, Dr. Frans Dinghofer, today was found guilty of intrigue in entering Austria without permission, and forging documents. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment. Two months already have been served pending his trial.

The trial today assumed the aspect of a college debating society. Bela Kun denied the charges, at the same time saying he did his deeds in the interests of humanity and the proietariat. He insulted the court, Austria, France, Italy and Hungary, after repeated warnings from the judge to confine himself to answering and explaining the charges. Bela Kun's secretary, Miss Ilona Greur, admitted being registered with the police as Kun's wife. She was sentenced to one month in jail.

A cabinet crisis was averted tonight when Dr. Dinghofer, who had resigned during the day after criticism because he had refused to extradite Bela Kun, accepted the post of president of the Supreme court.

MR. LOWDEN AND ILLINOIS POLITICS.

[The Dally Pantagraph, Bloomington, Ill.]

By hardly any stretch of imagination can one pioture a situation in which Frank O. Lowden may again assume political leadership in Illinois. Per-ponally he may be quite content that it is so, for on turning to his home last week he was quoted saying that he felt relieved that his politic were over.

It is just one of those political situations in which the logic of events cannot be avoided. To paraphrase a song which Eddie Foy used to sing about life, politics is a very funny proposition after all.

The CENTURY is now carrying twice many passengers as it did ten years ago, and nearly ht times as many as in the first year of its operation. In eleven of the past fourteen years the CENTURY has made a new high record of passengers carried.

But, while the popularity of the CENTURY has been growing year after year, the increasing demand for fast overnight service between Chicago and New York has called for the addition of a number of other de luxe trains over the New York Central route, all of which are also enjoying an increasing measure of public favor,

On an average day 50 Pullman sleeping cars on New York Central Lines run from Chicago to New York, and the same number from New York to Chicago. The majority of these cars are on the Lake Shore Limited, North Shore Limited, Wolverine, Fifth Avenue Special, and other fast trains supplementing the 20-hour service of the CENTURY.

SCOUTS PADDLE THROUGH BLACK HAWK'S LAND

The Chicago Boy Scouts' canoe flotilla paddles down historic Rock river past the wooded hills of the famous Indian region of Illinois. The Tribune party, under the leadership of Bob Becker, is headed for Rock Island. Lyman Anderson, the scoutmaster for the trip, brings up the rear. Last night the boys visited Lorado Taft's statue of Black Hawk, which overlooks the banks of Rock river.

"Come and get it" was the mess call which roused the scouts yesterday morning at 6:30. J. F. Mc-Donald, who assembled this meal, is pouring a steaming cup of "Java" for Lyman Anderson. The menu:

French toast, sirup, oatmeal, chops, prunes and coffee. This camp, the first of the trip, was located eight miles south of Rockford, where the Kishwaukee river joins the Rock river. [TRIBUNE Photon.]

FROM Coast to Coast, Austin's specialized service to the Avia-tion Industry is keeping pace with the amazingly rapid developments of air commerce.

Numerous projects now under way or just completed by Austin include a large aircraft factory with motor plant on the East Coast, a complete airport in the far West, a large factory in the middle West, hangars and service buildings in several cities.

Many of the important developments in the design of aviation structures have been made by Austin Engineers. The most complete and up-to-date material to be had on the subject of airports, hangars and factories, is published in a new Austin booklet—"Airports and Aviation Buildings." Business executives interested in aviation will find this booklet helpful.

Under the Austin Method of Undivided Responsibility, the complete project—design, construction and equipment—is handled by this one responsible organization. The contract guarantees in advance:

1. Low total cost for the complete project.

2. Completion date, with bonus and penalty clause if desired. 3. High quality of materials and workmanship throughout.

Whatever type or size of project you may be interested in, it will pay you to get in touch with Austin. Approximate costs and other information will be furnished promptly. Phone the nearest office, wire or write.

THE GRANADA & MARBRO WERE TWO YEARS AHEAD OF COMPETITORS WITH PERFECTED VITAPHONE AND MOVIETONE

These two theatres have the costliest talking picture equipment in the world and IT IS COMPLETE. Experts of the Electric Research Bureau of the Western Electric Corporation have used them as demonstration points to illustrate the highest possible attainment of the talking picture. Hundreds of scientists and showmen have visited these theatres to observe their perfection.

AND HERE IS THE REASON!

The Granada & Marbro are MODERN theatres with "sound ducts" built into the auditoriums. These produce perfect acoustics and tonal qualities. Old models theatres were forced to abandon talking pictures because the results were imperfect. Without the proper equipment you cannot thoroughly enjoy Vitaphone.

COME TO YOUR OWN NEIGHBORHOOD; AVOID LOOP PARKING DIFFI-CULTIES, STRAPHANGING, DUST AND CONFUSION.

WE ARE GLAD TO INFORM THE PUBLIC THAT THERE WILL BE AN EXTRA SHOW AT BOTH THEATERS TODAY. THIS ENABLES US TO QUICKLY SEAT THE TREMENDOUS CROWDS THAT HAVE COME TO SEE THESE GREAT STARS AND SPECTACULAR SHOWS.

"What's the matter with these fellows, anyway?" Betty pleads for en lightment. "No matter what you do you're always wrong. The same applies to petting. If you do—you're not fit to be a decent man's wife. If you don't, you're a flat tire. I wish some big boy would advise a sad little girl."

If I may speak for the big boy I'd suggest to Betty that it might be something else besides the clothes that terminated the pleasant evenings. Perhaps it was the lack of appreciation of the girl inside of them. Perhaps it was his shortsightedness, solely and purely. Again, perhaps she put too much confidence in dress to hold the LONDON, June 26.—The possibility that Secretary of State Frank B, Kellogg may come to Europe for a meeting of the signatories of the proposed pact to outlaw war has introduced the question, unofficially, of whether it would be advisable to effect the signatures quietly through embassies or stage a big show, which would attract the public and backing of various countries.

while it is pointed out that the initiative lies with Mr. Kellogg, it is indicated that there is a precedent in the signing of the Locarno pact, which was accompanied by great pomp and ceremony at the British foreign office. The foreign office refuses to comment on the latest U. S. note further than to repeat that it is heartly behind Mr. Kellogg. It is known, however, that the courtesy of the suggestion that the pact be signed on this side of the Atlantic was greatly appreciated, because Sir Austen Chamberlain must be in Geneva a large part of the year, as well as being tied down with the parliamentary sessions.

Big Tim Murphy, Racketeer, Assassinated in Front of His Home—Democrats Open Their National Convention

SCENE IN SAM HOUSTON HALL WHEN THE DELEGATES TO DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION ASSEMBLED FOR FIRST TIME. Although it was known that the first session would be a merely formal one and that no business of general interest would be undertaken, the hall was well filled. The crowd was disappointed when the motion to adjourn until the evening was made, and there were cries of unheeded objection. (Story on page 1.)
